

For the Board Meeting of: 2/10/2022

Executive Summary

For the month of January the guys were off the road due to the Covid situation in the province and locally. We took this opportunity to work on some virtual inspections and create some excellent cross-training presentations. Shortly we will have training material completed on the following: oil tanks, water loss, electrical (this is a very large one), construction types all lines, Douglas agricultural evaluator, e2value property evaluator and "follow the policy" through our department. Our current back log sits at 1632. Our guys are returning to full inspections.

Update on Major Goal(s)

Cross-training continues and I hope to soon lead by example with all of our power point presentations nearing completion. New inspection system testing phase confirmed coming soon. The ESG Environment goal is not started as of yet.

Looking Ahead

Inspectors returned to full on-site inspections starting the week of Feb 1. They of course will be wearing PPE when indoors and continue performing self-tests twice a week. They have also been reminded to respect any reluctance to inspection due to Covid concerns. The new inspection system is on the horizon. I have had conversations with two people from FarmRe regarding some technical and what stage the new system is at. They are currently creating generic inspection forms with several improvements from our current system in mind. They have indicated that I will be receiving access to a test site and be able to start reviewing these forms for input within the next few weeks. I now have some numbers to look over with respect to contracting out inspections and will be looking these over in the upcoming weeks.

Respectfully Submitted,

Bryce Clarke
